DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 2, 7 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Brown (U.S. 5,278,999). Brown shows a combined ear and eye protection device where the ear protection portion is in the form of a headset and the eye protection portion has frame ends with lenses received in the frame (Figure 1). The eye and ear protection portions include a pair of bridge portions connected between respective ends (Figure 9), a pair of bridge to frame hinges (Figure 9, 53), a pair of bridge-to-ear-cover connectors (Figure 3, 40) and ear-cover-to-bridge connectors (Figure 3, 36) comprised of first and second hook-or-loop connectors (Figure 10, 28). Brown also shows a first bridge segment connected to a bridge-to-frame hinge (Figure 11, 54), a second bridge segment connected to the first bridge segment having an outer bend angle (Figure 11, 36), and a third bridge segment connected to the second bridge segment having an inner bend angle (Figure 11, 28).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 3-6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Mikysa (U.S. 6,481,846) shows an ear and eye protection apparatus with a headset and flexible temples. Korny (U.S. 5,133,596) shows an eye and hearing protection device with ear cups and goggles.
